Price revisions for special cement additives

Kindly be informed that Denka Company Limited will revise prices of its special cement additives as described below.

1. Contents of the revisions

- (1) Products: Special cement additives (Information about target products will be provided individually.)
- (2) Effective Date: The revised prices will first apply to products delivered on December 1, 2021.
- (3) Rate of increase: Current price + 30% or more

2. Reasons for the revisions

Prices of coal, natural gas, and other raw materials and fuels have continued to increase significantly, which is aggravated by rising logistics costs.

While we have been taking a number of steps to reduce costs so as to hold the line on prices, our efforts alone can no longer absorb all of the cost increases. Hence, we have decided to revise our prices.
